

Can you help us grow our impact?

BlueO2 is a non-profit foundation that works towards empowering communities and developing regenerative practices. We do so by implementing regenerative design and engaging local community networks. Our projects aim to create win-win opportunities between water-management, biodiversity, wellbeing and education.

We are now looking for a chair to strengthen our team.

Who are we looking for?

BlueO2 board members have a very diverse background and contribute to the development and mission of the organization in various ways. We're looking for committed board members who like to contribute based on their knowledge, expertise and experience. After piloting a successful project we are now moving into the scaling of this project. We are looking to grow organically and in a networked fashion. It would be helpful to have someone on board that can relate to this from their previous experience. Our work touches on various thematic interests including; landscape architecture, urban planning, social sciences, ecology, philanthropy and water management. We welcome anyone bringing additional expertise in these areas.

What are the requirements?

- You have affinity with regenerative work;
- You have strong communication skills and experience facilitating (online) meetings;
- You are intrinsically motivated to commit time to work on positive social and environmental impact projects;
- You are willing to help the executive director expand our network and relations;
- You understand the importance of engaging people and networks so as to making projects work;
- You are solutions and opportunity oriented;
- You have the capacity to reflect and are accepting of a diversity in perspectives;
- You are based in the Netherlands or close enough to participate in activities of the foundation physically at least once a year.

Membership to the board is an unpaid position.
